Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mochizuki et al. (JP 2-246863) in view of Midling et al. (WO 95/26254). Mochizuki et al. teach a vehicle structure having abutting an end portion of a first member and an end portion of a second member (figure 2, items 27e and 27f), thereby providing an abutting portion, each of said first member and said second member having a first plate, a second plate (27e) which is arranged substantially in parallel to said first plate (27f), and a third plate connecting a midway of an end part of said first plate to an end part of said second plate (27c), wherein said end part of said first plate projects beyond said end part of said second plate, and wherein at said abutting portion said end part of said first plate of said first member abuts said end part of said first plate of said second member; welding a fourth plate to said second plate of said first and second members from an outer side of said first member and an outer side of said second member (27b); said fourth plate is positioned to overlap said recessed portion and abut said end portion of said fourth plate to an end portion of said second plate of said first member (figure 2, item 27b); wherein the friction stir welding is carried out under a condition where a backing plate is located adjacent said abutted portion, and wherein the friction stir welding is carried out to form substantially a flat face of said first and second members adjacent said backing plate (figure 2, items 27e). Midling et al. teach inserting a rotary tool to said abutted portion from a side of said second plate, carrying out a friction stir welding of said abutted portion (figure 5c). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the welding method of Mochizuki et al. to utilize friction stir welding in order to ensure a high quality weld free from voids (see Midling et al. page 2).
